

PRIVACY STATEMENT

Arctec Alloys Limited, respects the integrity of your personal and/or business information. It is our intention to provide our online customers with a safe and secure medium to review, communicate and purchase Arctec products. During this process Arctec will be securely collecting your personal and/or business information for complete website access and for e-commerce transactions. It is very important to know that Arctec Alloys Limited, will not sell, disclose and/or share your information and this includes to 3rd party contractors or consultants. Information may be used internally to produce statistical models to better assist our customers in the future. Your information may also be used for direct marketing purposes to share promotional products, new products and news.

COOKIES

The www.arctecalloys.com website uses cookies. Cookies are used to enhance your visit on the website and for programming functionality. You can disable them by modifying the privacy and security settings of your web browser. However, if you make changes to these settings the functionality of the website may be compromised.

EXTERNAL LINKS

The www.arctecalloys.com website includes external links to industry organizations that Arctec Alloys Limited either holds active membership in and/or is currently registered. These links are provided as a convenience feature to website visitors and Arctec takes no responsibility for the accuracy, content and functionality of these websites. The inclusion of these links in no way represents Arctec's endorsements of and/or is intended to include all welding industry organizations, associations and related businesses.

WEBSITE CONTENT AND E-COMMERCE

Arctec's intention is to provide an error free web site experience, however we cannot guarantee that the content is complete and/or accurate. This includes product specifications, sizing, packaging and pricing information. All errors and/or omissions in required technical data and product pricing, will be corrected on an as needed basis. If errors have incurred in product pricing which affects your order the corrected price will apply to your order. However, the customer reserves the right to accept or decline this corrected pricing and will be informed accordingly prior to the completion of the transaction. Arctec Alloys Limited reserves the right to cancel any advertised promotional offers, revise product pricing without notice and to correct any errors and/or omissions. It is Arctec's intention to fulfill all internet orders, however we cannot guarantee the stock availability of any particular product displayed on this web site at the time of your order.